In Memoriam

ROGER PUTNAM

I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep:
for thou, LORD, only makest me dwell in safety.

Psalm 4:8

Touring the Art Museum in Greenwich Village was a small group of out-of-towners and local sight-seers. Among the group was heavy-weight contender LARRY ARMSTRONG, the Reverend WILLIAM CHURCH, saleslady JOANN BARTA, beautician DONNA DIES, brewer JERRY STEINER, trophy-winner LARRY JOE DAVIS, candle-maker BARBARA SWICK, and channel swimmer PATSY BROOKOVER. LEONARD FISCHER served as their guide.

As they were reminiscing of past school days, they approached a mural that reminded them of their Senior Class of 1958. First was a circus scene. A liontrainer, who looked just like MARK SMITH, was in the lions' cage with two others who strongly resembled GARY SHILLING and RON SCHIEBER. Further on, an acrobatic team, which could pass for CYNTHIA SMITH, BETTE SOLOWY, and LUELLA WISE, was doing somersaults in the air. Further on was a scene of ballet dancers: LELA McCASLIN twirling on her toes, GRETA KEITH with flowers in her hair, and NICK LEOSATOS with arms outstretched ready to catch gracefully flying JUDITH NEUBERT.

There then appeared a scene of Colonial days. DON STEWART was the blacksmith and WILLIAM TIPTON the Mayor of Bloomfield Valley. Riding down the street in a horse and buggy were LAWRENCE CARPENTER, JOYCE CLARK, DIXIE BAKER, and FRANK DOMBEK, prosperous citizens.

CLASS PROPHECY

Next, there was a scene showing a war between the Spartans and the Orangemen. Leading the Spartan army were Generals DALE EAGLE and RONALD COTTLE. Standing at attention with their mighty guns in hand were DAVID HALL, WILLIAM CSELLE, ROGER RAFFERTY, and DALE CLEMMENZ. There were also some Red Cross nurses on the scene. We recognized JONI SNYDER, GERALDINE SLEVIN, CONNIE DAYTON, PHYLLIS DAILEY, and WANDA DISQUE.

In the next scene was a thriving Western town. Even though the marshal had a well-grown beard, we could tell that it was our old school pal, KENNY HOSEY. He was heading two well-known desperados, JACK HARTMAN and KENNY JONES, off to jail. It seemed they had stolen some jam from BETTY JONES' restaurant, as cow-pokes PHIL BAKER, JERRY CATES, and JOHN BLEVINS looked on. While the marshal was busy with his prisoners, robbers NAOMI WHITE, MARY SUSDORF, GLORIA SAYRE, and CARLYN SAMPLE were holding up TOM EISENTROUT'S bank.

Next, there was a horse racing scene. Standing in the crowd were PAT PLASTER, CONWAY ANDERSON, LLOYD IGLEHEART, ROSEMARIE LOZIER, and PAT GRAFTON. We recognized BOB WEISS as one of the famous jockeys.

As we looked on, we spied a theatrical scene. There in front of us was the lead actress JOY FLUHARTY; also in the cast were MARGARET FORD, CLARA KINSEY, JUDY KENNEDY, and PAT WHITED. Directing the show was JUDY ROWLES, and MARJORIE TAYLOR and PATRICIA STAIB were the make-up artists. HERSHELL TAYLOR was the prop man.

Further on was a scene of one of the biggest fires of our time. Fire Chief DAVE WARDER was instructing ESTHER DURST, JUDY FALCONE, VIRGINIA HAIDET, and DONNA FORSYTH on the fundamentals of putting out fires. JIM HARRIS and KAY JENKINS were trapped in the blazing fire and to their rescue went JERRY GLINSKY, DON MORRISON, and ROGER PRESSLER who were just passing by. Among the crowd of horrified spectators were ANITA PRY, JO ANN SNODERLY, SONJA WARREN, RAY WILEY, and JAMES BALDINGER. Holding the stretchers for the injured were LOIS and LOUISE BURKET, MADELINE DELSAVIO, and HELEN DOYLE. Leaping from the third story window was ORWIN OSWALD. Needless to say, he will be a victim for the stretcher crew.

Holding the crowd back were several policemen: Captain ROY RAY and patrolmen, DAVE NICKLAS, EDNA PURSLEY, JOYCE REEDER, and BARBARA ROYER.

Further on was a boxing match between WALLY SIMS and FRANK MUSGRAVE. Refereeing the match was MARILYN MELLER. Placing bets on the match were DONA GILBERT and her companions, MIKE WEYRICH, MARGO DAVIDSON, MARY CARPENTER, SHARON DILLBECK, and TOM FUNK. Sitting in the crowd enjoying the match were JUDY ALEXIS, MARY BITTINGER, ROGER DRAYER, and JOE DIXON.

At the concession stand selling hot dogs were DORIS GRIFFIN, JO ANN AUSTIN, PHYLLIS FORD, and their trustworthy helper JOHN HELLER.

Standing in the nursery room with strawberry ice cream cones in their hands were DON HENRY, JERRY JEWELL, and baby-face PHIL MONDELLO. Playing cars were JOY MILHOAN, SANDY McCRACKEN, and CAROLYN MARTIN. The nurses attending the youngsters were JO ANN MONTISANO, GENE MILHOAN, and RICHARD MORGAN.

In the nursery cafeteria serving the meals were JACK JOYNER and RALPH LUDWIG. The Chef of all chefs ELVA POUNDERS was busy warming baby bottles.

Next was a scene of one of the new ultramodern hospitals. The famous surgeon WILLIAM GRANT was in surgery removing the tonsils of our old classmate, DONALD HOOVER. SANDRA GROGAN, one of the nurses, was helping with the tonsilectomy. In another room were MARGARET MAYFIELD, PAULA PITZ, CAROLINE PATTERSON, and CAROL ROSSITER discussing their latest operations.

Sitting in the visitors' room were MARJORIE WEAVER, IRMA JEAN REID, and PATRICIA SHEPLER. Nurses PAT WILCOX and JANICE RITTENOUR were trying to revive RAY WEIMER and BUDDY QUICK, who found the maternity waiting room too much to take.

After seeing this mural, we all had a warm feeling in our hearts. It was just like seeing all of our old friends once more after being separated for so long. We decided to come back every year for old times' sake.

ACTIVITIES

CO-OP

The Co-op training program, under the supervision of Mr. K. O. Myers, is open to all seniors who are at least 16 years of age.

Providing practical vocational instruction and experience in retail and wholesale jobs, each student must work at least 15 hours per week, while attending two classes in Sales and Merchandising per day, in addition to other required high school work.

Lloyd Igleheart is president of the group, Jerry Jewell, treasurer, and Mary Bittinger, secretary.

The Co-op class sells all advertising for the SPARTANA, thereby meeting half the cost of the book. This year Jerry Jewell was high salesman, Way Riblett, second high, and Gary Schilling third high.

Secretary Mary Bittinger collected club dues from Roger Drayer.

Miss Rosenbloom, Advisor; Betty Jones, Editorial Co-Ordinator; Pat Brookover, Editor; Joe Barnette, and Marilyn Meller, Assistant Editor, are deciding and arranging the page order before the book is rushed to press.

SPARTANA STAFF

Mrs. DeMaris Callen, Business Advisor; Virginia Haidet, Margaret Ford, and Lillian Rogish prepare a layout for a page of advertising.

Margie Viall, Charlotte Gray, and Connie Zuercher typing copies for the annual.

Mary Carpenter, Esther Durst, Business Manager; and Connie Dayton check over last-minute financial problems.

Haromano is an honorary club open to all junior and senior girls who have received an average of 85% in five subjects or 87½% in four subjects. The purpose of Haromano is to promote high scholarship, high ideals, good fellowship, and good, clean morals. The officers are: Mark Smith, President; Ray Wiley, Vice-President; Phil Baker, Secretary-Treasurer; and William Grant, Chaplain. Mr. Donald Snyder is faculty adviser.

The object of the Future Homemakers of America is to help each girl better prepare herself in the art of home-making. Judy Falcone is President; Sharon Dillbeck, Vice-President; Sandra Venham, Secretary, and Pat Hathaway, Treasurer. Mrs. Dorothy Farst and Mrs. Peggy Jones are faculty advisers.

Each member of the Junior Service Club strives to live up to the ideals of clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean athletics, and clean living. Ronald Justice is President of this group with Dan Detwiler, Vice-President; Don McFarland, Treasurer; and Ed Stewart, Chaplain. Mr. J. Dombo is faculty adviser.

The purpose of National Thespians Apprentice Society is to further the interest of students in dramatics by providing them with the experience of both acting and directing in student productions. Lela McCaslin is president of this group with William Church, vice-president; Roy Ray, secretary; and Virginia Haidet, treasurer. Mrs. Kathryn Wyre is faculty adviser.

The Future Teachers of America is open to all students interested in the career of teaching. Each year the members have an opportunity to teach classes in the various grade schools in the township. In this way, they find out whether or not they like to work with children. John Heffernan is president; Pat Grafton, vice-president; Clara Kinsey, secretary; and Elva Pounders, treasurer. Miss Margery Gowdy and Miss Louise Nolt are faculty advisers.
